Product Portfolio Manager / Chief Architect

Why?

Marsel Moissis, a freelance Product Portfolio Manager and Chief Architect, wanted to receive formal certification in Enterprise Architecture. His goal was not only to achieve the TOGAF® certification but also to broaden his approach to enterprise architectural change and validate the expertise he had developed over his career.

Solution

Marsel wanted a training provider that offered expertise in managerial and engineering courses related to his field of interest, along with flexible learning and payment options that made the training more accessible. He found The Knowledge Academy to be the right choice to complete his TOGAF® Foundation and Practitioner training, offering the depth and structure he was looking for.

Experience

Marsel described the training experience as excellent, praising the engaging learning environment and the professionalism of the instructors. He rated the training 9 out of 10, noting that the sessions were concise, interactive, and focused on key concepts. The variety of accredited courses, responsive learner support and practical course materials further enriched his experience and reinforced the value of the training.

Outcome

The training helped Marsel grasp the essential knowledge needed to succeed in the TOGAF® certification exam while providing firm guidance for practical exploration and material application. He appreciated how the course structure supported both his professional development and his understanding of enterprise architectural practices.

Results

- Quality of Course Content: 9/10
- Trainer Feedback: Exceeded expectations
- Booking Experience: Quick and smooth
